

ROMMEL HURLS 250,000 NAZIS AGAINST ALLIES IN FUTILE MOVE TO HALT DRIVE

Nazi Divisions In Italy Driven North by Yanks

Complete Defeat Looms for Enemy

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME, June 12 (AP)—The German Fourteenth army has been "dispersed to the four winds," Allied headquarters declared today as Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's American and British forces, pursuing the disorganized Germans up the Italian west coast, approached Orbetello, seventy-one miles northwest of Rome.

As depleted enemy units fell back toward the Florence area with the greater part of their equipment lost, the Nazi high command faced the immediate necessity of sending heavy reinforcements from France or elsewhere in Europe if any real attempt was to be made to hold Northern Italy.

Completely Defeated
"It is now quite clear," the Allied announcement said, "that the original Fourteenth army has been dispersed to the four winds. All that remains is a few scattered remnants who mainly are engaged in stealing one another's transport to get away as fast as possible. Prisoners describe the situation as wholly chaotic."

The German commander, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, not only has been forced to throw all but one of the twenty-four divisions he had in Italy into a desperate effort to slow the Allied steamroller, but has brought in three fresh infantry divisions. It was disclosed today.

What is left of the Nazi Tenth army, which once struck hammer blows at Allied troops clinging to the Anzio beachhead, appears to have been put on an every-man-for-himself basis in the flight toward Florence.

Allies Continue Advance
"The most striking evidence of the degree of disintegration was provided by the fact that captured stragglers were provided with passes saying the bearer was authorized to proceed either alone or in small groups to an assembly place near Florence," the Allies announced.

Across the breadth of Italy the Allied Fifth and Eighth armies pressed grimly forward, meeting organized resistance only where the Nazis badly needed time to extricate their troops.

Nazi Air Fields Bombed by Yanks

10,000 Sorties Cover Wide Area

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 12 (AP)—Led by a record 1,400 United States heavy bombers, Allied air fleets flew up to 10,000 sorties today in the greatest blow since D-Day, smashing at sixteen enemy air fields, six bridges and other targets despite rising German air force resistance.

The heavyweights, in the greatest force ever sent on a single mission, lost seven planes to flak while their fighter escort shot seventeen of the enemy from the sky at a cost of fourteen fighters.

Second Great Attack
The supreme command threw every class of bomber and fighter into close support of the expanding Normandy beachhead, and the Germans, putting up their stiffest opposition since the channel crossing, were unable to check this whirlwind of Allied aerial might.

Japs Encircling City of Changsha

Chinese Defenders In Fierce Battle

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, June 12 (AP)—Invasion troops are pounding incessantly at all sides of beleaguered Changsha against heroic Chinese resistance and the battle around the outer defenses has reached its "fiercest proportions," a Chinese communiqué said tonight, indicating virtual encirclement of the Canton-Hankow rail city.

Far to the west, however, near the Burma border, Chinese troops were scoring further successes and were mopping up enemy remnants in the outer areas of Lungling, important Yunnan province base whose fall was announced yesterday. The Japanese still held strongly fortified positions on three hills outside the town, and attempted an unsuccessful flank attack from the south, a communiqué declared.

While American bombers and fighters blasted enemy troops, river craft and installations over a wide area of the Hunan front, the Chinese still were holding in the area fifteen miles northwest of Changsha, while directly north of the city the Japanese were fought to a standstill, the high command said.

The Japanese also were driving on Changsha from the east only six miles away, and fierce fighting was reported in all these sectors, with casualties heavy on both sides.

Berlin Looks Ahead:

Gloomy Germans Predict Greater Blows When Cherbourg Is Taken

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—The Germans admitted loss of Cherbourg today, and said great Allied drives were impending on both ends of the Normandy front with possibly leapfrog landings planned to hasten the choking-off of the port of Cherbourg.

Berlin blamed Nazi retreats chiefly on "the constant hail of shells from giant guns of Allied warships," and gloomily forecast there would be "an armada of bombers to support Anglo-American land forces when the fighting moves further inland."

Texas Democrats Rap New Dealers

Anti-Roosevelt Delegates Win

By the Associated Press

A court battle over the fourth term issue was shaping up today (Tuesday) as a result of an intra-party split among Texas Democrats.

The Texas Democratic Executive committee, meeting yesterday at Dallas, voted thirty-seven to six against certifying a slate of pro-Roosevelt presidential electors for printing on the July primary ballot.

The slate was advanced by a faction that broke away from the party's state convention after being twice outvoted by anti-administration elements.

Names Own Electors
The convention then went ahead and named its own group of twenty-three electors and instructed them not to support the party's presidential nominee unless the two-thirds nominating rule is restored at the national convention and other conditions are met.

Chairman George Butler of the Executive committee contended this group of electors was selected by a "perfectly regular convention," and unless yesterday's action is upset in the courts it will be the only slate appearing on the general election ballot.

New Dealers To Appeal

Aware that the defection of a single state's electoral vote easily could be the deciding factor in a close election, the Roosevelt supporters planned a quick appeal to the courts.

Other developments on the political front:
Senator Hatch (D-NM) declared in the Senate yesterday that the Republicans ought to have a presidential candidate "who would forthrightly state his position" on the issues of the day. Hatch, referring to a current series of articles setting forth Wendell Willkie's ideas for the Republican platform, said it was "unfortunate" that Willkie "is not now the general of the Republican party."

Discusses Air Power

"Overhead—vast Allied air fleets of bombers and fighters have been waging a bitter air war over Germany and Western Europe. They have had two major objectives: to destroy German war industries which maintain the German armies and air forces; and to shoot the German Luftwaffe out of the air. As a result German production has been whittled continuously and the German fighter force now has only a fraction of its former power."

"This great air campaign, strategic and tactical, will continue with increasing power."

"On the west—the hammer blow which struck the coast of France last Tuesday morning was the culmination of many months of careful planning and strenuous preparation."

Long Way to Tokyo
The president said "we still have a long way to Tokyo," but he reviewed the relentless Pacific smashes which have taken the initiative away from the Japanese.

Declaring we have deprived the Japanese of any power to check the momentum of our forces, Mr. Roosevelt said we have reduced Japanese shipping by more than 3,000,000 tons and have cut off their home-land troops of thousands of Japanese troops "who now face starvation or surrender."

Mannerheim Line Smashed by Reds In 8-Mile Drive

Russians Advance On Finnish Port

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Russian tanks and picked troops poured through breaches in the Mannerheim line today and seized Raivola in an eight-mile advance that carried them to a point about forty miles from the port of Viipuri, Finnish city second only to Helsinki itself.

Fighting through woods laced with lakes, the Russians also overran Kivnappa, about ten miles northeast of Raivola, in the new offensive which has the capital of Helsinki as a goal.

Raivola lies eight miles beyond the coastal strong point of Terijoki, whose capture was announced yesterday. More than thirty other populated places were taken as the Russians swept ahead.

Twenty enemy planes were reported shot down.

Churning up the Karelian isthmus ravaged by the 1939-40 Russo-Finnish war, Russian artillery, bombs and guns of the Baltic fleet cracked the defenses along a twenty-five mile front and stunned the Finns with a cannonading which echoed through Leningrad, more than twenty-five miles away.

Dispatches from Moscow said the Red army had seized several large railroad centers beyond the 1938 Russo-Finnish border and that Finnish casualties, heavy from the start, were increasing.

More enemy positions were being rolled up hourly as the Russians under Col. Gen. Leonid Govorov, liberator of Leningrad, struck repeatedly in the virtually constant daylight of the northern summer.

The newspaper Pravda declared the break-through was "great and significant" and that "now the hour of severe revenge has arrived."

FDR Optimistic On War Outlook

Nazis First, Then Japanese, He Says

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt said tonight we can force the Japanese "to unconditional surrender or to national suicide much more rapidly than has been thought possible."

The president, speaking on a national radio program opening the $16,000,000,000 Fifth War Loan drive, said our original strategy of eliminating Germany first and then turning our full war strength into the Pacific can hasten the day of our victory on all fronts.

Germany First on List
Germany, he said, is "first on the list for destruction," and added: "Germany has her back against the wall—in fact three walls at once."

"On the south—we have broken the German hold on Central Italy. On the east—our gallant Soviet Allies have driven the enemy back from the lands which were invaded three years ago. Great Soviet armies are now initiating crushing blows."

Then he and the pilot started off in the jeep to find the command post, encountering en route Lt. Burton Luther June, 24, Elmira, N. Y.

Lt. June, a group commander, took up the story there. He said he had been seeking thirty-five volunteers to go up front and help hold a captured town.

"Sure, Gwarty was one of them," June said. "He's a damn good soldier."

Under machine-gun fire they walked to the town and when they no longer were needed made their way to the beach and were brought back to Britain.

Gwarty had this explanation for his exploit:

"If my brother (PFC James C. Gwarty) ever comes back he'll say 'where were you in the invasion' and I couldn't tell him I was a ground mechanic."

The brother was captured by the Japanese at Corregidor.

Glider Stowaway Goes to France

Corporal Makes Good in Action

By RUTH COWAN

AT AN EMBARKATION POINT IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, June 12 (AP)—Corporal Benjamin E. Gwarty, a glider mechanic from Oklahoma City, Okla., flew to France as an invasion stowaway and now is back here with a broken rib after some rough fighting.

Gwarty tried to get official permission for the flight. When it didn't come through, he stowed his helmet and rifle in the rear of the glider which he knew would be first to take off last Monday night.

Crawls into Tail
Then the rugged, five-foot-eleven-inch corporal, a former marine, miner and oil field laborer, watched his chance and, about ten minutes before the takeoff, crawled into the tail.

Once the glider train had crossed the channel, Gwarty reported to the flying officer and, as he recalls, the conversation ran somewhat like this:

"Have you got room for a hitch-hiker?"
"What the hell are you doing here?"

"Oh, I'm just going over for a little excitement."

The glider landed under German fire. Its undercarriage was smashed and its contents of one anti-tank gun and quota of soldiers were dumped into a ditch.

American paratroopers nearby opened fire on the Germans. Gwarty, despite the broken rib suffered in the landing, aided his companions in salvaging a jeep from another wrecked glider and pulling their gun out of the ditch.

Glider Hits Tree
"German fire slackened and another glider wave came in," Gwarty said. "One big glider hit a tree. The co-pilot's parachute got hung up in the tree. I cut him down and got a medic."

Then he and the pilot started off in the jeep to find the command post, encountering en route Lt. Burton Luther June, 24, Elmira, N. Y.

He Papers Kitchen With War Bonds

COLUMBUS, O., June 12 (AP)—The paper with which Harold A. Miller is covering walls of his kitchen will be worth $4,200 ten years hence.

At present Miller has almost an entire side of the kitchen covered with $25, $50 and $100 war bonds—and one $500 bond. During the Fifth War Loan drive he hopes to get at least another side of the room finished.

A retired confectioner, Miller started buying war stamps from his newsboy in 1942 and then branched out into buying bonds.

U. S. Battleships Blast Germans

Texas and Nevada Shell Normandy

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Tuesday, June 13 (AP)—The twenty-four-inch guns of the United States battleships Texas and Nevada engaged German field batteries in Normandy yesterday in one of the unique duels of this war.

The 27,000-ton Texas and the 29,000-ton Nevada, the latter returning from the wreckage of Pearl Harbor to fight, moved in support of American air-borne troops on the Cherbourg peninsula between Ste. Mere Eglise and Quineville on the extreme west flank of the American ground line.

Hurling their massive shells with deadly accuracy the battleships gave the German mobile batteries inland a rough day. The two ships can fire almost across the entire peninsula.

The Allied navies have been carrying out the most persistent and heaviest bombardment in naval history the past two days, providing heavy weapons coverage for the ground forces comparable to coverage by Allied aircraft.

Three Hours Ashore
Arriving on the beaches shortly before noon, they spent three hours ashore; lunched with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander-in-chief of Allied ground forces in France; visited army headquarters; watched troops and supplies land, and then steamed through the battle fleet which was bombarding the shore.

Churchill and his companions crossed the channel today on the destroyer H.M.S. Kelvin and while they were aboard the ship joined in bombarding a German position on the northeastern Normandy flank.

On his visit today Churchill followed liberating armies. Four years ago he made a dramatic flight to a victorious German army to plead with French leaders to carry on the fight.

American Tanks And Troops Cut Line in Normandy

60-Mile Beachhead Firmly Established

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Tuesday, June 13 (AP)—American tanks and infantry smashed through the center of the German line in Normandy yesterday, capturing the Cerisy forest eighteen miles inland from the sea, toppling the stronghold of Caen after a bitter fight, and battling Nazi forces only fourteen miles from the prize port of Cherbourg.

Headquarters said that Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel was using from fourteen to fifteen divisions, 250,000 German troops, against the Allied forces, but communique No. 14 declared:

"The fusion of our beachheads is now complete and a coastal strip some sixty miles long is firmly in our hands. Its depth is being increased steadily."

A later official statement also said: "The enemy has been unable to build up his attacking forces as rapidly as anticipated."

At the end of the first week of invasion fighting the Allies have taken more than 10,000 prisoners, the statement said. Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander, said some regular Japanese soldiers were among the captives and the Axis slain, but did not explain their presence on the front.

Deepest Penetration
The seizure of Cerisy forest put American troops near the mid-Normandy communications hub of St. Lo, and was the deepest inland penetration yet scored by the Allies.

Slight advances were made east of Caen on the British-Canadian sector on the American left flank, headquarters said, and "American troops in the Cherbourg peninsula have made further progress to the north and west" in their effort to seal an 800-square-mile area including the port of Cherbourg.

Pierce fighting between British and enemy armored units continued between Tilly-sur-Seuilles and Caen, east of the Cerisy forest now occupied by the Americans, the bulletin said.

Eisenhower Tours Beachhead
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied invasion commander, made a five-hour inspection tour of the American sector yesterday, accompanied by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of the United States army staff, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, and Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the United States air force.

Besides the American "big four," Prime Minister Churchill of Britain also visited the Normandy front 100 miles across the English channel. With him were Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, South African premier, and Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the British Imperial staff.

The greatest daylight heavy bomber fleet ever dispatched from Britain, more than 1,400 United States Flying Fortresses and Liberators, supported the invasion during the day by striking at a broad belt of sixteen airfields and six rail bridges in France.

Germans Show Weakness
In the overall situation Rommel's axis forces were showing signs of weakness, an official statement said. But the Germans were pouring reinforcements into the western coastal areas of the Cherbourg peninsula and putting up stiffer resistance against the American thrusts below Cherbourg, it added.

Confirming field dispatches which said the Germans had not yet shown any sign of mounting a major counterattack with reserve forces, headquarters said the enemy "is unable to take his armor out of the battle to reform for a large attack because he apparently lacks infantry to hold the ground."

Major Battle Predicted
At Caen on the east end of the sixty-mile-long Normandy invasion line, a Berlin broadcast said: "A new major battle is imminent. Both sides have concentrated powerful tank and motorized artillery formations. Montgomery has tried in the last twenty-four hours to surround Caen but the town still is in German hands."

Motor Shares Lead Stock Market To Highest Prices of the War

NEW YORK, June 12 (AP)—A bull market in low-priced motors that spread to utility, automotive supplier and other civilian manufacturing shares and then broadened to carry prices generally to the highest since the war began gave the stock exchange its busiest day of the year today.

Allied advances in France and Italy, with their implication of a possibly earlier-than-expected European peace, sent speculators flocking into Wall Street to bid up prices of their favorites by fractions to more than two points.

At 2,236,780 shares, volume was the best since Nov. 8, 1943, and compared with 849,257 Friday, the last previous full session.

The quality of leadership improved as the trend rose, U. S. Steel gained 1½, Bethlehem 2½, General Motors 1½ and Chrysler 2½, the latter two setting new 1944 peaks.

The long list of new highs included, with fractional gains, duPont, Willys Overland, Budd Manufacturing, Hupp Motor, Nash-Kel-nator, Graham-Paige, Continental Motors, Hayes Manufacturing, Studebaker, Hudson Motor, American Radiator, Crane Co., Philco and American Sugar.

Ahead in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Cities Service, Carrier Corp., Republic Aviation, Phoenix Securities and Lake Shore Mines. Transfers here at 327,090 compared with 152,600 Friday.

A strong demand for reorganization railroad issues contributed importantly to a generally steady trend in the bond market.

Advances of fractions to a point or more were in the majority at the close on sales of $9,017,100 against $9,976,800 last Friday.

Trading in U. S. governments came to a virtual standstill as the fifth and largest war loan drive got off to a good start all over the country.

State Taxation Reform Stand Is Corroborated

URGING that all state departments cooperate in conserving budget appropriation balances—and there seems ample opportunity for doing this—Governor O'Connor has reported that more than $4,200,000 was reverted to the Maryland treasury during the last five years.

In addition to the actual reversions as of June 30, 1943, the governor noted that there was a return of approximately $4,000,000 reclaimed because of the shortened fiscal year.

In a memorandum sent to the departments, agencies and institutions preparatory to closing of the state fiscal year June 30, O'Connor declared that "this year, more than ever before, state department heads should consider such savings of their fiscal balances as a patriotic duty to their fellow citizens of the state. In order to ease the burden of taxation x x x it is necessary to keep to a minimum the cost of local and state government."

He continued that due largely to the budget savings during the five year period, it was possible for the state to achieve "an extraordinarily favorable financial situation, while at the same time enjoying the benefit of decided tax reductions."

From the surplus built up partly through these reversions, a reserve of $2,000,000 was established in 1943 for post-war construction and another $2,000,000 for war and peacetime emergencies, the governor said.

The real estate tax was reduced from eighteen and one-half cents on each $100 on assessable property to twelve cents, the lowest rate in more than eighty years, and the income tax rate on earned income of individuals was cut in half, the governor's report continued.

All of this, of course, is to the good; but it corroborates and emphasizes the stand of Republican leaders and the various independent taxpayer groups working through the Maryland Public Expenditures Council against excessive taxation which made possible the creation of these surpluses. Taxes, both on realty and on incomes, were excessively and onerously high and they were reduced as far as they have been reduced through the persistent and active agitation of the groups mentioned as well as this and a few other newspapers in the state. It should not be forgotten that the state administration declared at the time that if the changes urged were effected the state would face bankruptcy for which reason it was contended they could not be brought about.

There is opportunity for more improvement in the fiscal condition of the state by means of needed economies in administration to which insufficient attention has been given. Governor O'Connor senses this in the laudable plea he has given to the departments in his memorandum respecting balances—a plea that should go further in the direction mentioned.

How To Anticipate Postwar Prosperity

POSTWAR PROSPERITY is an engaging wartime topic. Deprived of many things that contributed to the American high standard of living, now that the factories are working for war, people naturally look forward to better times than hitherto experienced. Thus captivated fancy runs ahead of more realistic considerations in respect to postwar developments.

Perhaps prospects of postwar prosperity should be weighed in connection with current wartime prosperity, as both have much to do with the effects of war. With the expansion of national income during the war years has come "an appearance of prosperity, but it is a false kind of prosperity purchased at a tremendous price," warns Charles E. Wilson, president of General Electric Company, in the company's yearly report to employees.

"We are paying in taxes for less than half the cost of the war as we go," continues Mr. Wilson. "The balance is borrowed. After the war it will have to be paid back by hard work on the part of all of us. Our country has an abnormally expanded industrial activity that is operating on borrowed money to produce goods whose only function is to destroy and be destroyed."

There are many persons better situated financially than they ever have been in their whole lives. But, as Mr. Wilson points out, the present cannot economically be dissociated from the future. It is obvious that much of the money that is available to earning power today is government money raised by loans. Aside from the question of when—or how—these loans are to be repaid, the carrying charges will continue for an indefinite length of time to affect the financial situation of everyone.

The cost of war to the world is incalculable. The reconstruction period—as after every war—will be attended by great stress and strain, and adjustment will involve hardships. Doubtless there will be great fields of opportunity open to capital and enterprise, as yet only casually envisioned, but they will be conditioned on many inflexible factors of established economy. Prosperity is not available to the insolvent.

The only valid way for the individual to anticipate postwar prosperity is to save his money and as far as possible clear himself of financial obligations. It will give him a head-start not afforded by mere dreaming.

Cutback Problem Is Becoming Serious

THERE IS GROWING REALIZATION that America rapidly is becoming amply armed in many categories and that the period in which arms producing centers will face curtailment of production contracts with the government is approaching.

Both the army and the navy are moving toward cutbacks in military plane production. There undoubtedly will be revision downward of total output of warplanes next year. Many contracts may be cancelled. The urge and the need to produce 10,000 airplanes a month are fading. Soon only replacements for planes lost in action and in training will be needed.

A congressional committee is probing approaching reduction in output of the airplane industry and many others. It is conceded that there is a general lack of preparation for contract cutbacks and that planning is imperative. Nothing must be allowed to interrupt the flow of war supplies to the armed forces, but disruption of industry by lack of work in the midst of hard military campaigns must also be avoided.

Congress is eager to see what can be done to allocate materials to war plants that are about to undergo military production cutbacks. These materials can be used to manufacture civilian goods if red tape is cut.

Hitler's Wolfram Is Further Reduced

MILITARY ACHIEVEMENTS in the present war naturally overshadow the less spectacular accomplishments of diplomacy, but one diplomatic coup that should not be overlooked is the Allied success in persuading Portugal, always sympathetic to Britain, to cut off exports of wolfram to Germany.

Portugal has announced that it will not only stop shipping the steel-hardening ore to Germany but also will shut down all its wolfram mines immediately. Inasmuch as Spain already has agreed to cut its wolfram exports to the Reich to a trickle, the Nazis now are reduced to what reserves of wolfram they have been able to accumulate, and they are not believed to be large.

Severing the supply of wolfram to Germany is expected to prove an important factor in shortening the war, since it deprives the enemy of a vitally needed war material.

In conducting the negotiations with Portugal, the United States and Britain received valuable assistance from Brazil, traditional friend of Portugal, its mother country. Even before its troops enter the actual fighting, Brazil has made outstanding contributions to the cause of the United Nations.

The Treasury has not guaranteed every citizen $150 in currency—it has merely announced that to be the average of money in circulation.

There has been a great decrease in the number of suicides. Everybody wants to see what will happen next.

Lieutenant General of the Realm Prince Umberto of Italy has quite a title to live up to.

A Man Builds Himself

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Whatever you do becomes a part of you. Whatever you think or feel becomes you forever. . . . You win a victory and the way you take it becomes a part of your character. You lose and your loss is for all the future a shred of yourself. . . . You stand on the sidelines and see another's victory or defeat and this, too, in a lesser way, grows into your own experience: you are strengthened for achievement, you are heartened or warned and made different.

A man is born to be a certain person and he can never get far from himself. But life is not only "being"; it is also "doing." It is seeing and feeling and sharing and everything a man touches while alive shapes him a little. It makes him different or it confirms his natural slant.

A youngster gets into trouble and his father asks him about it. And though he pales and his lips tremble, he stands up and tells the truth.

Will he ever forget that? . . . You see a woman waiting for a surgical operation that may mean her death. You see her smile and comfort her family as she goes to the operating room. . . . Or you knew a strong man who knew that death was waiting for him at every corner, but he did not tremble or whimper. . . . Does not their courage become a part of you?

You were in a black pit of unhappiness and never hoped for peace and courage again. But they returned! Suddenly some inner strength came out and you were strong and joyful again. . . . Can you dismiss that experience from your memory?

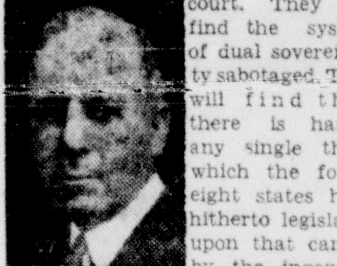

You saw a broken man refusing pity. You met a prisoner of war who would not cringe. You were there when a doctor and a nurse brought a child into the world. You met some stern test and found yourself its equal. You met ugliness in human beings and went out and found the fair earth as comforting as ever. . . . Are not these experiences forever a part of your armament?

A man can tear himself down but a man can build himself up again.

Insurance Decision Is Denounced as Work of Sabotage

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 12.—When the boys come marching home from the war some day they will find a government different from the one they left behind. They will find parts of the constitution have been emasculated by an irresponsible group of justices of the supreme court. They will find the system of dual sovereignty sabotaged. They will find that there is hardly any single thing which the forty-eight states have hitherto legislated upon that cannot be explained by the ingenious vocabularies of a few supreme court justices now be twisted into "interstate commerce" and hence subject to regulation by a government bureau in Washington.

David Lawrence

For seventy-five years the supreme court has held that the writing of insurance contracts is not interstate commerce. Again and again Congress and the court have been impounded to change that view but every proposal has been rejected as unconstitutional. Now four justices have ruled that the business of insurance is interstate commerce and hence that criminal indictments should be upheld against those insurance company executives now being prosecuted who have relied on the supreme court's consistent opinions throughout seventy-five years. Hitherto the custom and tradition has been that five justices out of the nine must concur on the question of constitutionality, but in this case, a precedent of 150 years was broken.

Chaos Predicted by Stone

The gravity of the situation, in fact the chaos that may result from what Justices Black, Murphy, Douglas and Rutledge have done to the stability of court decisions and constitutional law in America, is best described in the words of Chief Justice Stone, a liberal, who dissented from the insurance decision. "It is the supreme court's action is now overturning the precedents of seventy-five years governing a business of such volume and such wide ramifications," he said, "cannot fail to be the occasion for a flood of litigation and of legislation, state and national, in order to establish a new boundary between state and national power, raising questions that cannot be answered for years to come, during which a great business and the regulatory officers of every state must be harassed by all the doubts and difficulties inseparable from a realignment of the distribution of power in our federal system. These considerations might well stir a reversal of established doctrine which promises so little advantage and so much of harm. For me these considerations are controlling."

Jackson More Severe

Even more severe a condemnation comes from another dissenting opinion in the same case written by Justice Robert Jackson, another liberal and the man who recently occupied the portfolio of attorney-general in the New Deal cabinet.

"The states began nearly a century ago to regulate insurance, and state regulation, while no doubt of uneven quality, today is a successful going concern," he said. "Several of the states, where the greatest volume of business is transacted, have rigorous and enlightened legislation with enforcement and supervision in the hands of experienced and competent officials. . . . The court's decision at least will require an extension overhauling of state legislation relating to taxation and supervision. The whole legal basis will have to be reconsidered. What will be irretrievably lost and what may be salvaged no one can say and it will take a generation of litigation to determine. Certainly the states lose very important controls and very considerable revenues."

Legislation Entirely Lacking

"The recklessness of such a course is emphasized when we consider that Congress has not one line of legislation deliberately designed to take over federal responsibility for this important and complicated enterprise. . . . A poorer time to thrust upon Congress the necessity for framing a plan for nationalization of insurance control would be hard to find.

"The orderly way to nationalize insurance supervision, if it is desirable, is not by court decision but through legislation. Judicial decision operates on the states and the industry retroactively. We cannot anticipate, and more than likely we could not agree, what consequences upon tax liabilities, refunds, liabilities under state law to states or to individuals, and even criminal liabilities will follow this decision. . . .

"Congress, if it thinks the time has come to take insurance regulation into the federal system, may formulate and announce the whole scope of its action in advance, fix a future effective date, and avoid all the confusion, surprise and injustice which will be caused by the action of the court. . . .

Not a Judicial Function

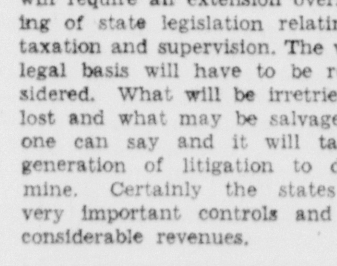

"Moreover this is the method of responsible democratic government. To force the hand of Congress is no more the function of the judiciary than to tie the hands of Congress. To use my office, at a time like this, and with so little justification in necessity, to dislocate the functions and revenues of the states and to catapult Congress into immediate and undivided responsibility for supervision of the nation's insurance businesses is more than I can reconcile with my view of the function of this court in our society."

These are strong words but they are warranted by the chaos about to be caused by the opinion of Justices Black, Murphy, Douglas and Rutledge. The dissenting opinions of Justices Stone, Frankfurter and Jackson were courageous and statesmanlike expressions, designed to avoid the confusion. Justices Roberts and Reed for personal reasons felt disqualified to sit in the cases and hence rendered no opinion.

News of the case was blanketed by the invasion last week but it remains the most sensational happening on the home front and the most devastating blow ever struck in American history by the judiciary against orderly and responsible government, especially in time of war.

Collectivism Must Not Impair Freedom Of Individual in the Peace, Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The unresolving conflict between the four freedoms and radical ideologies which is apparent behind confusing political news from abroad is also conspicuous behind much domestic news and interpretation.

The Leftist journals are currently campaigning for the Beveridge proposed "Way of Life" in Britain, with the critical demand that it also be pursued here. They think that that is what the four freedoms mean, assumption by the state of more complete authority over the lives of men economically, fixing their wages, their employment, their security rather than encouraging the individual to do it himself on his own initiative. That is the kind of peace and postwar planning they want.

But we have campaigned this war through to a point near victory on the basis of bringing liberty and democracy for the individual both here and abroad. Is their thinking now not as confused and as far wrong as it was a few months ago when they were campaigning for a quart of milk a day and labor-wage standards to be fixed throughout the world?

Three Needed Definitions

What is liberty? What is democracy? What is freedom of the individual? If we do not first decide that, how can there be anything but confusion about postwar planning?

To me, an individual enslaved to a state economically by taxation or otherwise, is no less a slave than if controlled politically. In a dictatorship, his life is no more free than the conscience and ability of the man who happens to be running the state at any given time.

If he has a democratic form, he is still no more free than by whatever degree his president and Congress are free from domination by minority class groups and interests. In the religious sense, he is not free if he is dominated by any class group either. Domination by one religion or by atheism is equally far from and democratic ideology.

Seen Only in Part

The radical see this, but this part of it only. How can they expect anyone to believe domination brings economic freedom when they see so well it does not bring religious freedom? They could not consider the world politically free if it was dominated by one world imperial power, at least no one else would. Oneness domination never yet has achieved freedom or liberty or democracy in any way.

What we would like to have is complete freedom for all peoples in all ways, economically, politically, religiously. This always has proved too idealistic a goal for the world production. War machinery will have to be junked. New capital, much new capital, will be needed, and in many cases it will not be available until the government pays up for canceling the war contracts.

Much will depend upon the government being ready to make these settlements promptly. Otherwise there will be much unemployment and the expected rush for civilian goods will not materialize.

War Contract Handicaps

From the Johnstown, Pa. Tribune

It begins to look as though Congress is going to take its time about passing new legislation on terminating war contracts. That may be all right unless the war comes to an unexpected early close, in which event delay may seriously retard conversion of industry to peacetime production.

Most persons assume that a high level of business activity will persist automatically after the war, peacetime instead of wartime activity. The country needs a vast quantity of new automobiles, tires, refrigerators, electric irons, radios, houses, shoes, baby carriages, locomotives, waffle irons—in fact, everything.

Shifting to peacetime production, however, will not be simple. Most American business units are engaged in war business under government contract. Until the contracts are terminated, quickly and orderly, many a business is going to have to wait to shift over to civilian production.

The radical see this, but this part of it only. How can they expect anyone to believe domination brings economic freedom when they see so well it does not bring religious freedom? They could not consider the world politically free if it was dominated by one world imperial power, at least no one else would. Oneness domination never yet has achieved freedom or liberty or democracy in any way.

Southerners Are Vexed by Charges Made by Truman

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—The tumult and shouting stirred up among Republicans by Senator Harry S. Truman, New Haven, Conn., speech is now now beginning to rise to crescendo. And there are even some moderate Democrats who feel Truman went too far in accusing Republican leaders of playing politics in the midst of the war by fighting the New Deal.

First result of the charges made by the mild-mannered chairman of the Senate war investigating committee may be a let-down in committee harmony.

Truman, of course, tossed a grenade in committee ranks by accusing the Republicans of taking disclosures of the committee as political ammunition.

Henceforth, if Truman's speech is a pace-setter, the air will be blue with a pre-campaign barrage of political invective.

Southerners Vexed

It is understood that most of the southern Democrats in both Senate and House are vexed that the Missouri senator should have started "hitting below the belt." That is what they consider impugning the patriotic motives of the opposition during a political campaign.

The Republicans are expected to strike back at Truman's charges very soon, over the radio and from the rostrum and in public meetings and public halls.

There was general surprise that Truman, usually gentle and restrained, should have authored such a blast at President Roosevelt's political foes.

"He has gone too far," one southern senator said. "He has set a bad precedent that may lead to a campaign of accusation in the midst of war—a campaign we southern Democrats do not wish to see."

House Laugh in Reverse

Back in 1942 when President Roosevelt called for the production of 125,000 planes a year, Axis propaganda sources gave out the horse laugh, calling the figure fantastic and solemnly reassured their peoples that such a production goal was impossible of attainment.

In a strictly literal sense, the Axis turned out to be partially right for American plane production reached only 47,873 planes in 1942, went to only 85,846 in 1943, and is expected to top 100,000 planes this year.

There is small comfort to the Axis in these figures, nevertheless. Since 1942, plane designs and construction have changed rapidly, and the emphasis on planes needed has risen rapidly in the direction of heavier and more complicated combat models. For instance, seventy-seven per cent of the planes built in American factories now are combat craft and only seven per cent are light trainers. In 1941, forty-eight per cent were trainers.

And now here is the horse laugh in reverse for the Axis propagandists: The 85,846 planes made in 1943 are equal to 122,000 of the type made in 1942 and the 100,000 for 1944 will equal 167,000 of the 1943 types.

Tips from Tokyo

Tokyo communicate writers never have displayed any respect for facts, but nine times out of ten they have "scooped" the United States War and Navy departments on initial announcements about action by our fleet and air forces.

That is why Washington newsman watch closely Tokyo propaganda broadcasts for "tips" on where action is occurring, and then they wait for official confirmation to learn what actually happened.

Tokyo usually rushes to the microphone to tell the world about a new invasion or a heavy assault and to "assure" everyone that little or no damage was done.

Uniforms for Porters

In its new budget for the 1944-45 fiscal year, the Office of War Information asked nearly $5,000 for uniforms for porters.

Most of the uniforms, will be worn by native employees of the OWI in the Orient.

Director Elmer Davis explained that unless the OWI messengers and porters are uniformed they cannot get into public buildings in some foreign countries.

They would be looked upon as beggars from the streets, he said.

Scouts Complete For Lethal Bullet

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(AP)—The trophy in a Boy Scout merit contest is a bullet from a Marine's 45-caliber automatic that killed a Jap during a hand-to-hand encounter on Guadalcanal.

The bullet was brought here by Bill Baker, himself a former scout, who said he dug the bullet from a tree with his knife after a Jap grabbed a marine by the wrist and attempted to wrench the American's gun from him. The marine jerked the gun away and shot the Jap dead, the bullet going through his body and lodging in the tree.

The bullet has been engraved with "V." three dots and a star and it has been made into a neckerchief slide.

In "The Yellow Canary"

The extent to which the Nazis go to establish their agents in foreign countries, and the marvelous organization which has been built up by them enabling these agents not only to work together, but to so cover their tracks that it is almost impossible for authorities to find the complete personnel, is shown in "The Yellow Canary," Anna Neagle and Richard Greene co-starring vehicle, produced and directed by Herbert Wilcox, for RKO Radio, now at the Liberty Theatre.

In this picture Miss Neagle plays Sally Maitland, aristocratic English girl whose obvious enthusiasm for the new order has resulted in her exile from home.

The story, for the most part, is laid in Halifax, N. S., where, along with Orlock, an official German agent, Sally finds herself involved in a plot to blow up the harbor and cripple shipping to such an extent that no convoys can sail. The plan is based on the famous Halifax disaster of 1917, when a ship carrying T.N.T. rammed a ship loaded with iron ore, with resultant casualties numbering almost 20,000.

"Up in Mabel's Room"
Coming to Maryland

No queen ever had as large an entourage putting her to bed as Marjorie Reynolds, Hollywood star. And no queen ever had as large a crowd feasting on her loveliness as she lay abed as this same Marjorie Reynolds. As a matter of fact, as Marjorie tells it, things got so bad that she began to develop a "peeping Tom" complex and looked for strangers behind curtains and under the bed when she got home from a day's shooting on the set.

But the foregoing is really not as bad as it sounds. Marjorie, one of the stars of "Up in Mabel's Room," Edward Small's production starting tomorrow at the Maryland theatre through United Artists release, is a perfectly normal girl, who loves her privacy. Her lack of it occurred only on the set where she played a number of scenes in bed.

It seems that every time she did her emoting under the covers it took thirty-nine people to put her to bed, not counting the crowds who managed to get onto the set for a looksee at Marjorie in her negligee. As a good trouper Marjorie realized that you can't expect to make scenes, even intimate ones, in privacy. But she did mention to Allan Dwan, director of the film, that her boudoir performance was probably being observed in person by a larger audience of males than any other young lady could even fondly dream of during the present emergency.

Actor Jack Raymond Is Double Talk Champ

Jack Raymond, who has a supporting role in PRC's murder comedy mystery thriller, "Shake Hands with Murder" which opens today at the Embassy theatre, is a source of annoyance and good clean fun on every set where he is engaged. In the film, Raymond carries many of the comedy lines and when given direction by Albert Herman, who both co-produced and directed the picture, he would frequently say to Herman after receiving instructions, "you mean you wish me to go to the monosporos and sangulala the crabus?"

Until someone gets wise to this double talk spoken in sober seriousness, it creates no end of disturbance.

Victory Junior Baseball League Becomes an Eight-Team Circuit

Campaign Opens Tomorrow with Games Here, at Frostburg and at Lonaconing

The Allegany County Victory Junior Baseball League, meeting last night at the K. of C. home to make arrangements for the opening of the season tomorrow evening, was expanded to an eight-team circuit.

Taken into the fold were Cumberland DeMolay and McIntyre's Pirates. The DeMolay was represented at the first meeting of the league by a spokesman at the second session. Robert Martin represented the DeMolay while Carl McIntyre and Dick DeHart represented the Pirates.

Other teams in the league and their representatives last night are Liberty Dairy, Jack Murray; Iron Firemen, formerly North End; Ken Hopwood and Lou Baker, Sr.; Cumberland American Legion, Bill Spangler; Frostburg Legion, Bob Lee; Cumberland Knights of Columbus, Gormer Kelly, and Lonaconing American Legion, James Orr.

In opening battles tomorrow, the Iron Firemen and K. of C. will meet on the North End Playground field, Cumberland Legion will travel to Lonaconing to oppose Coney Legion, Liberty Dairy will play Frostburg Legion at Frostburg and the two latest additions, DeMolay and McIntyre's Pirates, will tangle at Campobello.

All games will be twilight affairs starting at 6:30 and will consist of seven innings. An official contest will consist of four and one-half innings, provided the home team is ahead. The home club will provide the plate umpire with the visiting team furnishing the base arbiter.

Each club will play fourteen games, meeting each other team in home-and-home engagements. At the end of the regular campaign, the first four outfits will take part in a Shaughnessy playoff series for the season championship.

Thus, the league is double the size of last year's circuit when Liberty Dairy, West Side, Montgomery Ward and Lemmer Hardware of Frostburg comprised the wheel with Montgomery Ward capturing the title.

After the first half-dozen games or so, any teams which may prove "doormats" for the rest of the clubs will be strengthened by the league's governing commission, composed of John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Walter L. Bowers, Gene Gunning and Ross W. Prysock.

With the help of the neighbors, many a little red schoolhouse was built. That readiness to help the folks down the road and the family across the square was the strength of our early America, the foundation for our democracy. Because of it, we have a greater heritage to defend than any other people on Earth.

That you would walk home with awkward packages because your dealers have difficulty making deliveries? When you aid your neighbor, you aid your country. Isn't it surprising how many things one person can do to help

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our beloved brother, James Reed, who died one year ago, June 12, 1943.

The blow was hard, the shock severe, we never thought his death so near. Only those who have lost can tell, the pain or parting without farewell.

He little thought when leaving home, that he would never return, And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him, Never shall his memory fade, Loving thoughts shall ever wander, To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by
BROTHERS AND SISTERS

In loving memory of my beloved Mother, Mary L. Hennen, who died June 12, 1943.

The chair you sat in, the place you filled, Still hold your memory, though your voice be still, And we who knew you, know you still, and share the peace you know, who have passed over there.

Reception Center Band Makes Hit At Bond Rally

Coffins Will Start Journey Tonight; Dance Will Be Held at Armory

All the seats were not filled for the war bond rally held last night in the Maryland theater but they should have been. Sgt. Jack Platt's Reception Center band from Camp Lee, Va., put on a show.

Most of the music was played by the dance orchestra composed of members of the band and if it had not been for the uniforms, one not informed would have thought one of the nation's top dance bands was swinging out.

The orchestra did not steal the whole show. Pfc. Jay Jason, well known master of ceremonies and comedian, got plenty of laughs and more applause with his jokes, imitations and songs. And Sgt. Ina Lee Elchener, home on furlough from duty with the WAC, brought down the house with her vocal rendition of the popular song hit, "I'll Get By."

Naughton Opens Program
Joseph M. Naughton, chairman of the War Finance Committee for Allegany county during the Fifth War Loan drive, got the program under way with a brief welcoming address in which he said he hoped the program to come would boost bond sales in the county. Then Sgt. Platt and his band took over after Naughton presented them as one of the finest musical organizations in the armed forces today. They lived up to their introduction.

From beating it out on "Fine and Dandy," the twenty members of the dance band moved into George Ger-shwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." Both swing and sweet music led up to the introduction of Jay Jason.

Jason was adept not only at wisecracking but at his imitations of Edward G. Robinson, Mortimer Snerd, Stepin Fetchit, Ned Sparks, Jimmy Durante, Lionel Barrymore, Charles Laughton, the Great Gildersleeve, the Ink Spots, Frank Morgan, President Roosevelt and Eleanor Roosevelt. "Eleanor," he imitated the president as saying, "can't be here tonight. She's pitching for the Brooklyn Dodgers."

The first half of the show came to an end about ten minutes before President Roosevelt addressed the nation on the Fifth War Loan drive. The remainder of the program, with the military band playing a prominent part, was broadcast over the local radio station.

Dance Tonight at 9 O'clock
Last night's performance followed a tour by the band yesterday to Westernport, Keyser, W. Va., Piedmont, W. Va., and Luke in behalf of the war loan drive, and a bond rally at 3 p. m. yesterday at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

Tonight at 8 o'clock Hitler's and Tojo's coffins will start their journey from the Western Maryland railway crossing to the graves at the end of the line near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad crossing on Baltimore street. The ceremony tonight is slated for the Western Maryland crossing. Mayor Thomas S. Post and city council members have been invited to participate.

At 9 o'clock tonight the war bond dance will be held at the armory with admission limited to purchasers of war bonds. Music will be furnished by Sgt. Platt's Reception Center band. If any incentive to attend the dance were needed, last night's performance by the band at the bond rally should have provided it.

Frostburg Child Dies of Injuries; Ran against Car

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gaughan Succumbs in Hospital

Margaret Ann Gaughan, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gaughan, Frostburg, died in Miners hospital, Frostburg, at 8:30 o'clock last night about thirty minutes, state police said, after she ran against an automobile on Bowery street in Frostburg.

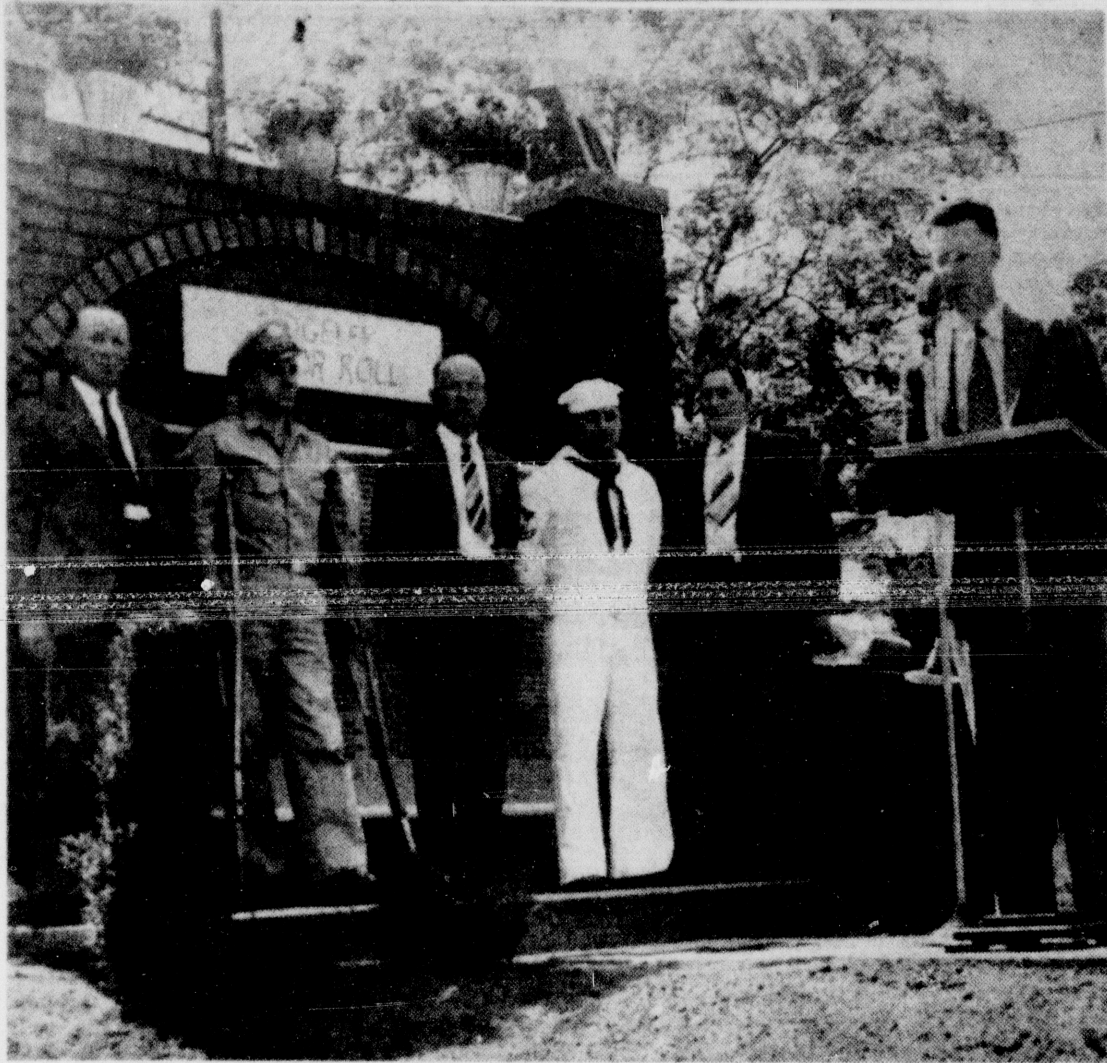

Dr. Linne H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, said the girl, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gaughan, died of crushing injuries that ruptured her internal organs.

State Trooper Ira G. Unger, who investigated, said the driver of the car involved in the accident was Mrs. Mary E. Bender, Route 1, Frostburg. He added that no charges have been entered against her pending further investigation and Dr. Corson said he has reached no verdict, also pending a further investigation.

According to the state trooper, Mr. and Mrs. Gaughan and their daughter had driven from their home to the home of Mrs. Alberta Wellings, Bowery street, to visit.

After the father parked the car across from the Wellings home, the trooper said he was informed by witness, the child got out and ran around the rear of the car and started across the street.

She ran against the left side of the front bumper, Unger reported, and was pushed a short distance before the car was brought to a stop. Mrs. Bender's father, Joseph F. Strunk, Route 1, Frostburg, who was riding in the car, drove the girl to the hospital where she died a short time later.

Blood Bank Meets Quota on Sixth Day of Project

Lt. J. Brady Smith, Navy Physician, Warns against Let Down

Generous response to calls for donors to fill in the gaps made in yesterday's schedule by twenty broken appointments and numerous rejections resulted in the filling of the American Red Cross Blood Donor unit's quota of 160 pints, Joseph H. Cromwell, local chairman, announced last evening.

A minor crisis developed early in the afternoon when donors failed to appear at the appointed time, and only prompt response of Cumberland persons who came at once to the unit to give their blood made the record possible. Ten persons who had no appointments yet came to wait for a chance to give their blood were turned away at 5 o'clock when the quota was met.

Offers Blood
An urgent call from a local hospital for Type B blood early yesterday afternoon would have been supplied by a donor who was listed in the chapter file had not a donor been found before the unit could make the necessary arrangements, Cromwell said.

Two members of the Baltimore Motor Corps arrived here yesterday to take the place of two others who were recalled Friday. They are Mrs. Olive Woodall and Mrs. Hazel Lenfesty, both of Baltimore.

Most versatile members of the mobile unit, the members of the motor corps serve as drivers, give hemoglobin tests, sterilize equipment and act as general medical technicians.

Give Hemoglobin Tests
Donors will be interested in the specific gravity hemoglobin test which is made during the brief physical examination at the unit. One drop of blood is dropped into a glass of copper sulphate solution. Unless the blood drops to the bottom of the glass in fifteen seconds, a person is rejected. This does not mean that a person is anemic, but only that the blood count is not considered high enough to warrant the loss of a pint of blood.

Praising the co-operation of all who have helped to make the first six days of the unit so successful, Lt. J. Brady Smith, navy physician in charge of the unit, warned against an "end of the week" let-down.

Traffic Club Members Are Urged To Place Orders for Coal Early

Stocks Are Said To Be at Lowest Point Since War Started

Anticipating a shortage of coal this coming winter, members of the Tri State Traffic club were last night by their president Ralph E. Lashley, to place their orders early whether for domestic or commercial use. Stocks in the nation are now at the lowest point since the start of the war. Particularly is this true of the eastern and Atlantic seaboard territory which has resulted in some of the eastern railroads hauling coal from the Midwest fields of Illinois and Indiana for their own locomotive use, Lashley added.

Calling attention to the fact that conventions are again being discouraged by the Office of Defense Transportation, members were urged to refrain from all unnecessary traveling unless essential to the progress of the war effort. E. R. Gishbourne, Hagerstown, district manager of the O.D.T., spoke briefly.

Preceding the meeting members were served a dinner at the Circle Inn, McMullen highway. The meeting was in charge of the recently elected officers, Lashley, the new president, announced appointment of the following committees:

Allegany County Farmers To Meet Here on Saturday

Program for 1945 Will Be Outlined; WFA Officials To Attend

Recommendations for production in 1945 and soil conservation will be among the items to be considered at the meeting of the Allegany County Agricultural Conservation Association Saturday from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., at the county office, 37 Washington street.

The session, open to all farmers in the county, will be attended by representatives of the state AAA office and all county and community committees as well as officials of the War Food Administration and the Soil Conservation Service.

Topics to be discussed will include review of the 1944 conservation program, status of conservation materials and future prospects, dairy feed payments, machinery prospects for the last six months of 1944 and for next year, labor prospects, recommendations for 1945 agricultural conservation program, suggestions for improving informational service and plans being made to meet post-war problems.

It was announced yesterday that county offices of the Agricultural Adjustment Agency will assist farmers in obtaining motor trucks being distributed by the United States Treasury procurement office from the surplus and used military supplies. Farmers who contribute most to the war effort in the way of war-food production will be given priorities, officials said.

The AAA reported the weekly output of farm tractors has more than tripled in the last ten months and production for 1944 probably will exceed the year's goal of 209,000 machines. Production is now up to 5,800 machines per year, equivalent to 301,000 a year.

Maryland farmers are holding similar meetings this month to draft a crop adjustment plan sufficiently flexible to cope with the shifting tides of war.

Health Officer Immunizes 749

Dr. Frantz Examines 870 Pre-school Children in Spring Roundup

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, vaccinated 749 children of pre-school age during the spring roundup concluded May 31, it was announced yesterday by the health department.

A total of forty-eight public and parochial schools were visited during the five weeks' period and 870 children were examined. The pre-school tots are vaccinated in the spring of each year as a precaution against smallpox.

The largest number examined in any one district of the county was 143 in Frostburg and vicinity.

The job of examining and vaccinating all of the children was performed by Dr. Frantz, who inaugurated his roundup on April 24.

Public health nurses assigned to the various districts assisted the county health officer at the schools.

Five-man Board Is Recommended To Head Recreation Setup Here

Full Time Director Asked; Council Will Act on Proposals Monday

Four recommendations relative to the operation of a year around recreation program for Cumberland were approved last evening at a meeting of Cumberland's Playground Commission in city hall and will be submitted to the mayor and city council at its next regular meeting Monday, June 19.

The recommendations were:

1. That the mayor and council provide by ordinance for a five-man commission responsible for the organization and administration of a recreation program for Cumberland. Members of this commission shall service without pay and represent the various interests and sections of the city.

2. That the commission employ as soon as possible a full time director of recreation and that they pay a salary adequate to assure a competent well trained person in this position.

3. That the use of eight playgrounds be continued this summer, including the six existing playgrounds and additional ones in South Cumberland below the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and Frederick street, the latter for the negro population in that area.

4. That the Allegany County Board of Education be asked the extent that school buildings and grounds can be adapted and used in the recreational program.

Directors To Meet Board

Following discussion of the proposed twelve "months" recreation program, Mayor Thomas S. Post announced that he and the two other members of the city park board, namely, Mrs. Marguerite Findlay and Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets and public property, will confer with directors of the six already established city playgrounds today at 3 p. m. in city hall for the purpose of making arrangements for the opening of the play fields with the close of schools for the summer vacation this weekend.

Harold W. Smith, chairman of the Cumberland Playground Commission, stated that for the time being concentration will be on the city's limited number of playgrounds. Improvements will be made where necessary and the proper supervision arranged until such time that a full-time director is employed by the city.

Stresses Element of Time
Smith emphasized that it may take several months before an experienced full time director can be secured but expressed the opinion that the National Recreation Association will lend its support in finding the right man for the job.

Other members of the mayor's commission attending the meeting in addition to Smith were James E. Spitznagel, chairman; Mrs. J. Orville Pifer, Mrs. Lee Lichtenstein, Ross W. Prysock, Earle T. Bracey, Charles E. Bramble, John F. Chisholm, Mrs. Myrtle Dean, the Rev. Joseph W. Young and Wesley Taylor.

Smith had been employed as brakeman for almost a year. He joined the navy early in 1943 and received a medical discharge, going to work for the B. & O. after leaving the service.

Married last Wednesday to Miss Virginia Lee Hardy, he and his wife resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hardy, 435 Race street.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, 209 Mary street; one brother, James E. Smith and five sisters, Mrs. Herbert Erickson, Mrs. Louis Broest, Mrs. William Durbin, Mrs. Robert Marker and Miss Leafy Smith, all of Cumberland.

Local Recruiter Accepts Thirteen Youths for Navy
Five of the thirteen, 17-year-old boys who signed for the navy, after passing preliminary tests at the navy recruiting office here yesterday, requested assignment in the regular navy.

This means, according to W. B. Warmee, recruiting officer, that they have chosen the navy for a career. Their enlistment requires that they remain in service until they reach 21. Those then desiring to re-enlist can remain in service and at the age of 37 will be eligible for retirement.

The five are: Joseph A. Hannon, 1944 graduate of Westport high school; Frank L. Bess, Route 4, Cumberland; Ray W. Smith, 1944 graduate of Bedford, Pa., high school; Harry S. Imier, Bedford, Pa.; Paul W. Horn, 321 Pulaski street, Cumberland.

Whitelaw To Tell Of Gas Appliances In Postwar Period

Winter and Summer Air Conditioning Systems Will Be Offered

Natural gas service and gas appliances for postwar homes will be discussed by H. Leigh Whitelaw, New York city, managing director of the Association of Gas Appliances and Equipment Manufacturers, at a meeting of the Peoples Home Ownership Savings Club to be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in city hall auditorium.

Whitelaw has been managing director of the gas manufacturers group for many years and was formerly affiliated with the American Radiator Corporation and with American Gas Products.

His speech will outline modern and adequate gas service, new designs and plans for postwar stoves and refrigerators, adequate house piping for gas and will give home owners an idea of what the gas industry has in store for us in the future.

Whitelaw will give details of winter and summer air conditioning of homes by gas. Over 300 test installations in various parts of the country have been in operation since 1938 and are proving very satisfactory, local gas officials said.

Only three switches need be thrown to change the air conditioning mechanism from winter heating to summer cooling.

Home economics classes of Fort Hill high school will attend the meetings of the club and will receive credit for their attendance.

Clifton M. Smith Believed To Have Fallen from Freight Train

Clifton Michael Smith, 22, of 435 Race street, Baltimore and Ohio railroad brakeman, was fatally injured last evening in the Ewitt's creek yards, east of Cumberland.

Extra Canning Sugar Is Still Available

Persons who have not received the first ten pounds of the 1944 home-canning sugar allowance were reminded yesterday by War Price and Ration Board No. 13.11 that applications will be accepted until July 31.

Over 9,000 applications, representing over 30,000 persons have been received at the local ration board since May 1, and coupons for approximately one-half million pounds of sugar have been issued, Karl W. Radcliffe, chief clerk, announced yesterday.

After August 1, persons may apply for an additional ten pounds per person. The application, to be made on the same form as used for the initial application, must be accompanied by a list specifying the use made of the first fifteen pounds of canning sugar, Radcliffe said.

Work on Municipal Airport Will Be Resumed Soon

CAA Gets Presidential Approval; Will Ask for Bids

Construction of Cumberland municipal airport, held up by presidential order several months ago, will be resumed shortly, the Civil Aeronautics Administration announced yesterday, following President Roosevelt's approval of the local project as well as forty others.

The announcement did not contain the date work will start, but the CAA disclosed that bids for the job will be asked within the next few days.

Emergency Field
Rep. Jennings Randolph, of West Virginia, was named chairman of a Congressional subcommittee, and Rep. J. Glenn Beall, of the Sixth district, was named to the group to call on the president and urge continuation of the work on the forty-one fields involved.

Charles Z. Heskett, local airport director, pointed out yesterday that both representatives deserve considerable credit for gaining approval of the work that was curtailed because of the manpower shortage.

The CAA revealed that the president's approval was given for the construction of fourteen airports required for specific military purposes and twenty-seven for emergency use. Cumberland's airport is in the latter group.

A $150,000 sum earmarked for use on the Cumberland field was transferred to Frederick by Sen. Millard E. Tydings, but the bill, granting the money to Frederick for airport work, failed to pass the House of Representatives after getting through the Senate.

Heskett expressed the opinion that inasmuch as the Frederick bill met with negative action the money must still belong to Cumberland since the measure did not kill previous legislation.

Johnstown Eliminated
The CAA has appropriated $140,000 for construction work on the local landing strip but the job has been held up pending the presidential review.

Rep. Randolph pointed out that he believes the only airport to be eliminated from the list for resumption of work is the field at Johnstown, Pa.

The CAA announcement revealed that work will be resumed at Martinsburg, W. Va., Parkersburg, W. Va., and Wheeling, W. Va.

Municipal Union Accepts Terms Offered by City

Work Stoppage Deferred; Laborers Promised Four Cents Increase

Acceptance of an hourly increase of four cents for all laborers in the street, sewer and water departments now receiving sixty-six cents, two weeks' paid vacation and six days' accumulative sick leave, offered yesterday by city officials, was announced last evening at a meeting of Municipal Workers Union No. 812 in the F. O. Eagles building.

Calvin W. Shipes, president of the local, stated that the action taken last night means that there will be no suspension of work today at 3:30 p. m., as voted by the union last week in event the council refused to confer with the grievance committee for the purpose of negotiating a settlement.
